SONS ORDERED TO PAY TOWARD MOTHER'S CARE

The right of mountain folk to live out their declining years in the mountains was indirectly upheld by the Adams county court Friday.

The occasion was a hearing on a petition for support of an indigent person, Mrs. Alice Naugle, who resides in the South Mountains where she has made her home all of her life.

One son, Gilbert Naugle, told of how he had attempted to take his mother to Pittsburgh to live with him. But she wouldn't stay in the city, he added, preferring to come back to the hills and her home. "I even told mother that she need not worry. That when she died she would be buried beside dad in the mountains," Naugle told the court.

Judge W. C. Sheely observed that "it is hard to uproot a person who has spent all of her life in the mountains," in ordering that Gilbert Naugle should pay $1.50 a week for the support of his mother and that Grover Naugle, also of Pittsburgh, should pay $4 a week.

Other Support Orders

A daughter, Mrs. Gifford Beck, who lives 13 miles from her mother, in the South Mountains, but who visits the mother two or three times a week, was named as custodian of the funds turned in for the support of the mother.

The support order against LaVerne Fuhrman, Conewago township, was amended to eliminate support of the wife. He was directed to pay $6 a week to one family keeping his one child and $6 a week to another relative keeping another child. His bond of $500 was continued.

Ralph Wagner, New Oxford R. 1, was ordered to pay $20 per week until further notice on a support order for his wife and two children.

David McCartney, Center Mills, was directed to pay $25 a week for the support of his wife and six children.

The tax collector's bond of Wilmer Gross, Berwick township, was approved. Attorney Richard A. Brown was appointed master in the divorce action brought by Lillie M. Richardson against Lloyd E. Richardson.

Watercress and dandelion greens were plentiful. Cress at 15 cents a quart box and the greens at ten cents a quart. Bunches of daffodils were priced from ten to 25 cents each, some mixed with other spring flowers, and a few potted plants were 25 to 50 cents each.

Pilfering Mouse Joins Ancestors

The mouse in the front window of Redding's supply store, 22 Baltimore street, ate his last meal Friday, and the displays of seed corn, beans and peas in the window display are safe unless other members of his family raid them.

FAIRFIELD'S BAND AUXILIARY RE-ORGANIZES

The Fairfield Community Band auxiliary, which had been relatively inactive since 1946, reorganized Friday night at a meeting in the Fairfield school to resume its program of promoting the growth and welfare of the Fairfield high school band.

The auxiliary had dropped most of its operations in 1946 when the Fairfield high school closed and the band disbanded. Meetings of the officers and directors were held occasionally. The organization had about $360 in the bank.

With the opening of the Fairfield joint high school this year and re-organization of the band, the auxiliary also has reorganized to help the band.

Buy New Instruments

So far the auxiliary has spent about $700 for new instruments for the new band. It also plans to raise funds for additional instruments, uniforms and similar equipment in cooperation with the school board.

Merle Kittinger was named president of the auxiliary at the re-organization Friday night. Mrs. Luther Kepner was elected vice president; Mrs. J. Warren Martin, secretary, and Lloyd Benner, treasurer. Selected as members of the board of directors were John T. Held, Mrs. Ed Snyder, Joseph Lowe, Mrs. David Sanders and H. L. Harbold. Most of them had also been active in the auxiliary five years ago.

Mrs. Harold Brown, Mrs. William Neely and Mrs. Hare were named as a committee to seek new members. They had 85 members; about 20 were present for Friday's session.

One of the jobs of the auxiliary will be to plan for weekly practices of the band during the summer months while school is not in session.

Mrs. Grover Ridler was named as the council's representative on the Armed Forces Day committee. Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler, president of the council, and Mrs. Craver, vice president, were named to represent the council on the newly-formed Associated Civic and Service group, with Mrs. Charles Lauver, representative of the Women of the Moose, as an additional member on the group. The payment of $2.50 to the new organization was authorized. The council also voted to turn over to the new civic group the council's comfort station project.

Plan Town Tours

While no regular meetings are to be held during the summer months, the group voted to hold a picnic in June. Town tours were considered as a matter of education for members, with the decision on the tours to be made at the May meeting.

The group voted to make the May session an open meeting for women on the subject of town beautification. A committee including Mrs. Elizabeth S. Hennig, Mrs. Cora Berkeley, Mrs. Louise Stanton and Mrs. Donald E. Myers was named to arrange for the program.

CAPTAIN CITES MANY REASONS FOR OVERHEAD TROOPS IN ARMY

Articles in national magazines which condemn the number of "overhead" troops in American divisions in comparison with the Russian and Chinese model are written apparently by men who fail to understand the need for such troops, and the value they have, Capt. C. B. Spicer, professor of military science and tactics, said in an Appomattox day talk before the local Sons of Union Veterans Friday night.

"The authors have confused riflemen with firepower," declared the World War II veteran who took part in five battles in Europe and who was wounded twice in that war. "The forward observer for the artillery is part of the overhead troops. He does not carry a rifle. But who provides more firepower? The man with the 30 caliber rifle, or the forward observer who may bring 90 cannon to bear on a given spot."

"Medics are also overhead troops. But would we want to adopt the custom of the Russian and Chinese troops of letting the wounded fend for themselves? Or is it better to have the medics and continue our record of having 98 1/2 per cent of our wounded live?"

Others Also Serve

"Truck drivers are overhead troops, but they permit the divisions greater mobility. We had an example of that in Korea. We were able to disengage from a number—"

C. P. Keefer, New Oxford, received a Hood college citation Friday evening during Evangelical and Reformed church night ceremonies in Brodbeck hall, one of the events in the three-day Hood college convocation, being held this week-end at the college in Frederick. Dr. Andrew G. TWO-THIRDS OF CANCER CASES ARE CURABLE, DR. WOLFF SAYS

Speaking on behalf of the Adams county unit of the American Cancer society, which is conducting its annual fund drive this month, Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, director of the cancer clinic at the Warner hospital, told a WGET radio audience Friday that, in fighting cancer, "we are dealing with a ruthless enemy, one that would kill in every instance if allowed to proceed unhindered."

"Even so," Dr. Wolff continued, "at this very moment it is possible to cure about two-thirds of the cases that develop. Remember, I did not say as many as that are actually cured. The other half could be cured, but for one reason or another they do not seek help until it is too late and the enemy has gained such a foothold and has advanced so far that the only procedure one can resort to is a slowing-up process."

"No One Is Immune"

MacArthurs Rest After Greatest Ovation In History Of New York

New York, April 21 (AP) — The tumult of history's greatest ovation at an end, Gen. Douglas MacArthur rested today, leaving through a stack of invitations from all over America.

There are other cities for the five-star general to conquer if he wishes—Chicago, Philadelphia, Baltimore, to name the larger ones.

But none can pay him greater tribute than he got here yesterday when 7,500,000 persons sent thunderous cheers echoing to the masonry peaks of this skyscraper wonderland.

MacArthur's immediate plans were not made public. He, his wife and 13-year-old son were secluded on the 37th floor of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

However, he tentatively plans to visit Chicago next week.

If he goes there, he has been asked to stop at suburban Maywood, Ill., where a memorial immortalizes 100 tankmen who died in the World War II defense of Bataan.

MacArthur also is committed to visit his wife's home at Murfrees-

RED CROSS IS NEAR GOAL; ASK HELP ON WINDUP

The Adams county Red Cross was within striking distance of its goal of $14,000 today.

Cash turned in to the county chapter office totaled $12,063.35 leaving $1,936.65. Additional sums were being sought in the borough and county to put the drive over the top.

Mopping-up activities found a number of persons who were still waiting for solicitors to come and collect donations. Paul Littleton, volunteering to visit the east side of Baltimore street, collected $97 within a few hours. Mrs. Gertrude Winebrenner, visiting some sections previously unsolicited, returned with $35. A number of other volunteer canvassers were taking over other sections to collect where solicitors had been unable to visit previously.

The Red Cross today said it would appreciate the aid of other volunteers to collect in areas which were missed in the original solicitation. At the same time it again urged county-wide canvasses to mail their contributions to the Red Cross office on Baltimore street.

Bruce Macley, East Berlin chairman, reported that his district expects to go over the top by Monday. The district turned in a partial report just $18 less than its goal of $365.

Among the additional donations reported today were $50 from the Hotel Gettysburg, $20 from John C. Lower company, $10 from Gettysburg Building Supply and $5 from Wolf Farm Supply.

Tokyo, April 21 (AP)—Allied troops beat off Red counterattacks with fists and rifle butts last night and fought today for the last ridges barring capture of Chorwon.

The Reds briefly penetrated United Nations lines in west-central Korea Friday night. They struck in defense of Chorwon, transport hub 18 miles north of the 38th Parallel border of Red Korea.

The Red attack, with hand grenades and automatic weapons, carried through Allied lines at one point. It separated two Allied elements and forced one U.N. company back to reform.

Early Saturday the company fought back up the 1,500-foot height, with the aid of artillery fire.

Blast Red Areas

Heavy artillery batteries blasted Red troop concentration areas before dawn Saturday north of Allied-won Hwachon reservoir in central Korea. Flares lighted the target area.

A P. Correspondent Jim Becker said the heaviest bombardment hit four miles north of the reservoir and about 200 yards east of the Surichon river.

Another field dispatch reported an unopposed U.N. advance over ridge tops near the captured town of Hwachon.

Korean military sources said a captured Chinese Red reported the Communists have been ordered to pull back to the 39th Parallel to await reinforcements. The report was without confirmation.

The 39th Parallel is 70 miles inside Red Korea.

Reds Continue Retreat

A gradual Red withdrawal has been in progress all along the front. But Allied sources estimate the 600,000 Communist troops are north of the Chorwon-Kumhwa line. A Red counter-offensive has been considered probable.

The Reds made several counterattacks Friday south and southeast of Chorwon. Five hundred made one of these assaults. The attack lost 75 killed and 150 to 175 wounded.

In central Korea, near the eastern end of Hwachon reservoir, an Allied tank-infantry element clashed for four hours with 300 Reds. The Reds finally withdrew.

An Allied force advanced Saturday toward the west branch of the Pukhan river against no opposition. U. S. B-29s dumped 70 tons of—"

FLOODS PERIL RIVER TOWNS

(By The Associated Press) The mighty Mississippi, on a spring rampage in the upper valley area, today threatened serious floods to river towns in three midwest states.

"Old man river," fed by rains and heavy runoffs, spilled out over mid-west lowlands and forced thousands to flee their homes. The Red Cross estimated nearly 3,000 persons have been evacuated in the flood-stricken area.

Other hundreds were threatened with evacuation over the week-end or early next week.

A state of emergency has been declared in some Iowa communities as the big stream's crest inched to near record levels.

There was feverish activity in some of the cities along the river southward from Wisconsin into Iowa and Illinois. Levels were being strengthened. Bulldozers were put into operation in building earthen dikes.

The Red Cross, National Guard and Civil Defense agencies joined in caring for flood victims and preparing to combat what might be the highest floodwaters in years.

Cooler weather, with showers, was predicted for most of the flood-stricken today.

There appeared no immediate danger of serious flooding in the lower Mississippi Valley below Cairo, Ill.

17 KNOWN DEAD, 22 MISSING IN TANKERS' CRASH

New Orleans, April 21 (AP)—Seventeen seamen were known dead and 22 others were missing and presumed dead today in the collision of two tankers that set both ablaze in the Gulf of Mexico 200 miles south of Morgan City, La.

Marine records indicate it is the greatest disaster off the U. S. coast since 84 lives were lost in the collision of an American tanker and on June 6, 1943.

In yesterday's pre-dawn collision during heavy fog, the 10,000-ton Esso Greensboro and the 26,500-ton super tanker Esso Suez crashed, exploded and burst into flames.

Only one man among the 44-man crew of the Esso Suez was killed in the collision but another, unidentified, died of burns. Three other men on the Suez were burned.

15 Bodies Recovered

All of the other dead were aboard the flaming Greensboro, carrying 42 men. The bodies of fifteen from the Greensboro were recovered and five survivors from the Greensboro were picked up.

Four of these nine—two from the Greensboro and two from the Suez—were flown to Corpus Christi, Tex., for medical attention.

"I saw one light and then the other," related Able Bodied Seaman John A. Horton of Cambridge, Mass., one of four injured men on the Suez flown to Corpus Christi.

"It seemed like they were right on top of us," Horton said. "Then there was a hell of an explosion."

"I couldn't see anything. The minute we hit, there was nothing but smoke and flame. I don't think those guys (on the Greensboro) had a chance. I saw some of the men from the engine room try to escape through the vents."

Hot Oil Starts Blaze

"The Suez caught fire just as soon as the hot oil from the Greensboro hit us. I don't know how it happened. It was a very heavy fog."

Storekeeper Leroy E. Fay, of Baltimore, Md., a survivor from the Greensboro, said he was lying on his bunk when the ship "exploded."

He was severely burned when flames roared through the port hole. "The passageways filled with men trying to get out," Fay said. "You should have heard all those guys screaming and hollering for help. Everybody tried to run topside. Quick as they did, they were burned alive."

"I opened a hatch and flames blew back in my face. There was a kid there who got burned standing up. He was going to marry a Baltimore girl. Another man opened a door and was burned alive where he stood."

Ships Search Area

This morning two coast guard planes, two navy planes, two coast guard cutters and the Esso Burlington searched the disaster area for any bodies that might still be recovered, or possible survivors not already picked up.

Crewmen from the 10,000 ton tanker Virginia, one of a dozen ships that went to the scene, boarded the Greensboro late last night, the coast guard said, and put out the flames and took the disabled ship in tow.

The Virginia, owned by the National Bulk Carrier Co., of New York, claimed the tanker for salvage. She was towing the ship to Galveston.

The Virginia reported this morning 10 bodies were found aboard the Greensboro.

Urged To Battle News Suppression

Washington, April 21 (AP)—The American Society of Newspaper Editors was advised today to fight what one of its committees described as an increasing tendency toward "arrogant suppression of news" by government officials.

The committee on freedom of information, in a report prepared for today's convention session told some 400 editors:

"We are beginning to suspect that the biggest uncovered story of our time is the insidious seizure of news prerogatives by public officials."

The committee, headed by James S. Pope of the Louisville Courier-Journal, recommended that editors wage the fight not only through news and editorial columns but through the courts when necessary.

"More often, publicity itself is the simplest and most devastating ammunition action against secrecy," Pope said.

RED SOX DROP 3RD STRAIGHT; NATS WIN TWO

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Who stole the Fenway Park left field wall or what's the matter with the Boston Red Sox?

That's the puzzle for the good citizens of Boston.

The Sox, perennial pre-season favorites to win the American League pennant, are in a deep freeze.

Steve O'Neill's men entered the season with 11 straight exhibition victories and their long suffering followers licked chops, anticipating a terrific start. But alas, the Sox still are wallowing in the dust, looking for victory No. 1.

They began by dropping two games to the world champion Yankees in New York, scoring only once in the process.

Yesterday they opened their home season and it appeared that their spiked gloves would smoke and belch as of old. Victory seemed a lach pipe cinch.

A's Make History
The factors that pointed to a sure-fire Red Sox victory were:

1. The Sox were backed on their home lot with that chunky left field wall, a haven for their awesome right handed hitters.

2. They were to meet the Philadelphia Athletics. The A's, dead last in 1950, had lost 22 straight games at Fenway Park, not winning in Boston since September 12, 1948.

3. Alex Kellner, a 29-game loser in 1950 and a lefthander to boot, was to pitch for the A's. A lefthander goes the route and beats the Sox in Boston only once in a blue moon.

4. Mel Parnell was to pitch for Boston. Marvyn Mel had racked up the A's 10 straight times.

But Kellner stunk a crowd of 11-461 fans by turning back the star-studded Sox, 6-3, permitting only four hits along the way.

Kermit Wahl broke up the game in the eighth inning. Wahl batted a two-out two-run double and scored the clincher when the usually reliable Dom DiMaggio dropped Joe Tipton's liner.

The Yanks ran into a snag in Washington, dropping a day-night doubleheader to the Washington Senators, 5-3, and 8-4.

Sandalio Consuegra yielded four hits in the day game in outlasting five Yankee pitchers who granted only two hits. Thirteen bases on balls ruined the Yanks. A crowd of 27,331 fans including President Truman turned out as Washington belatedly opened its season.

Lefty Al Sima scattered 10 hits in the night game which attracted 15,553 customers. Mickey Vernon batted in four runs on a triple, double and two singles to spoil the debut of rookie Tom Morgan, the Yanks spring training flash.

Chicago Keeps Pace
The double triumph put the Nats in first by a half game over the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox who scored their third straight triumphs in the afternoon.

Bob Feller came up with a neat five hitter as he pitched the Indians to a 4-1 victory over the hapless St. Louis Browns before 48,316 fans in Cleveland's home opener.

Randy Gumpert pitched Chicago to a 5-0 three-hit victory over the Detroit Tigers before 8,731 at Chicago. Gumpert helped his cause by driving in two runs.

The Brooklyn Dodgers spoiled the day for the Giants and 30,870 fans by downing the New Yorkers, 7-3, at the Polo Grounds. The Boston Braves nipped the Phils, 2-1, before 17,423 fans in Philadelphia. Don Newcombe tamed the Giants on five hits. Max Surkont surrended only two hits and drove home the winning run with a fly ball as the Braves shaded the Phils.

Gerry Staley scattered nine hits as the Cards opened their home season with a 5-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs in St. Louis under the lights.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Columbus, O., April 21 (AP)—Wayne

Woodrow Hayes is a well-rounded (physically and otherwise) youngish man who has just taken on the toughest job in football. . . . And he won't admit that it's tough. . . .

By common consent among coaches, the task of tutoring Ohio State's many and healthy football players is the severest strain a coach can undergo. A lot of them haven't been able to take it. Hayes already had been criticized as being too young (36) and too inexperienced (Denison and Miami university) to take on a "big time" job. . . . But Woody just brushes off talk of wild-eyed alumni and rabid downtown quarterbacks with "I'm not worried about those folks downtown. They'll like this 'T' formation and we'll win."

When you get down to cases, the personable Woody is something of a hard case himself. He reminds you of an "old pro" who isn't worried about his ability to take it.

MADE TO MEASURE
One of Hayes' favorite stories, which he tells at alumni gatherings, is about showing his five-year-old son, Stephen, Ohio stadium for the first time. . . . It is a vast, forbidding mass of concrete which might impress even an older person. . . . The youngster stared for a moment, then commented: "But, Daddy, the field's the same size as the one at Miami, isn't it?"

NO CRYING TOWELS
Hayes, very busy these days teaching his squad the intricacies of the "T," puts great emphasis on two things—hard work and downfield blocking. . . . He talks quite a bit about "discretion blocking," which roughly is a system which permits players to change their assignments as the defense shifts. But his main idea is to hit 'em so they'll stay blocked.

THE OTHER SIDE
This visitor was somewhat skeptical about the football "heat" in Columbus but a taxi driver finally convinced us that the cabbies do discuss football with their fares, even in April. . . . Listen to this guy who says he'll give the newcomer a break: "I like Wes Fesler. And there's just one thing I wanted when he went to another school. . . . It was that he'd come back to play Ohio State and beat the ---- out of them."

Sport Shorts
Pinehurst, N. C., April 21 (AP)—Two young lumber men who can really put the wood to a golf ball—Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga., and Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C.—met today for the 51st north and south championship.

Their 36-hole duel over the 6,900-yard par 72 No. 2 championship course of the Pinehurst Country club was set up by semi final contests yesterday in which they ganged up on the last remaining Walker Cup team representatives.

Baltimore, April 21 (AP)—A prize game pep session got out of hand last night when hundreds of Johns Hopkins students marched into downtown Baltimore. Police arrested five but released them on bail. The students were whooping it up for today's lacrosse game against Princeton on the Hopkins campus.

After an hour of noise making on the campus, the university band and some 300 students tramped three miles to the loop. Bystanders said the collegians, all men, tried to barge into two burlesque houses, night clubs and a hotel. By the time police caught up with them, there were only five left in the hotel.

New York, April 21 (AP)—The $40,000-added Wood Memorial, since 1925 considered the east's major test for horses with Kentucky Derby hopes, is on the program at Jamaica today.

Sixteen three-year-olds, headed by Joseph J. Colando's Uncle Mittie, were entered for the mile and one sixteenth gallop. It appears that with the derby still a pretty wide open affair, the winner and runner-up, might get tickets to the Louisville classic May 5.

DELONIE LOSES 5-1
Delone Catholic high school's baseball team dropped a 5-1 decision to unbeaten Hanover Friday at McSherrystown. The Squires were held to but one hit.

BIGLERVILLE WINS
The Biglerville junior high school baseball team defeated Fairfield junior high 8-5 in a game played Friday at Biglerville.

Boy Drowns While Fishing With Dad
Johnsontown, Pa., April 21 (AP)—The eight-year-old son of Johnsonstown high school's football coach drowned in the Clarion river today while fishing with his father and a brother.

The victim was Frank Funair, Jr., son of Frank Funair. The boy's body was recovered about an hour after he slipped from a mudbank and fell into the stream. He was swept away before his father and his 13-year-old brother, Patrick, could aid him.

WARRIORS TOP BUBBLERS FOR 2ND VICTORY

In a wild and wooly game played under the lights at Boiling Springs Friday evening, the Gettysburg high school baseball team chalked up its second straight victory by defeating the Bubblers 14-11.

A superb bit of relief hurling by "Skip" Fisel protected the Warriors' lead in the late part of the game. Fisel fanned four batsmen in an inning and one-third although yielding a run on an error and triple by G. Wise in the final frame.

Dick Miller started for the Shoemaker team and lasted until the sixth.

Gettysburg got off to a flying start with five runs in the first inning on an error of Rohrbach's, a bounder, a walk to Signor, single by Bupp, sacrifice by Singley, felder's choice and a single by Ford.

Miller passed G. Wise and C. Wise to open the Bubblers' home half of the inning and then Dromgold pounded out the first of his two homers. Dromgold also homered to lead off in the third.

Six In Sixth
The Warriors picked up a run in the second on a single by Signor, felder's choice, stolen base and single by Singley. Another came in the fourth and then six runs were pushed over in the sixth. The big sixth was the result of four walks, a hit batsmen, an error and hits by Bupp, Heyser and Penn.

Boiling Springs pushed over four runs in the last of the sixth which brought on Fisel to quell the uprising.

Next Tuesday the Warriors meet Chambersburg, defending champs, in a South Penn game on the Recreation field at 3:30 p.m. and on Friday will meet Delone Catholic, also on the home diamond.

NEW ATTACK ON PRICES LOOMS
Washington, April 21 (AP)—Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston may announce today a new attack on prices through establishment of a "fair and equitable" standard for manufacturers' profits.

The plan is reportedly the first leg of a three-part program, also involving labor and agriculture, by which Johnston hopes to "harden" anti-inflation dikes.

Government officials first mentioned the plan three weeks ago. On April 13 Price Director Michael V. Disalle told newsmen some prices would be rolled back at the manufacturers' level by an order to be issued "next week." This would bring about some price drops at the retail level, Disalle said.

The plan reportedly would:

1. Allow manufacturers to strike an average of their dollar profits in their three best years during the four years, 1946-1949.

2. Forbid price increases which would boost manufacturers' profits more than 85 per cent of that average.

3. Allow prices which have broken through the 85 per cent formula to stand, but

4. Require manufacturers to absorb increased costs without raising prices until their profits run not more than 85 per cent of the average of the three best years from 1946 through 1949.

Washington, April 21 (AP)—Rep. Fenton (R-Pa.) has won the first round in his battle to obtain more funds to fight mine fires. The Interior department money bill, approved by the House Appropriations committee yesterday, contains $306,000 more for controlling mine fires in the year starting July 1 than the $50,000 the Bureau of Mines requested.

Boston lies as far south of the British isles as does Rome.

MacARTHUR BRIEFS
New York, April 21 (AP) — The crowd waiting for General MacArthur got an extra thrill Friday when they saw the Duke and Duchess of Windsor walking up the middle of Park avenue.

The royal couple had emerged from their apartment in the Waldorf Astoria to go up to the apartment of a friend three blocks north to watch the parade. Because of the great press of the crowd on the sidewalks, they were obliged to walk out in mid-street.

New York, April 21 (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur's health is magnificent, and has not been impaired by his recent strenuous schedule, his personal physician said Friday.

"General MacArthur has stood ordeal better than any of us," said Col. Charles Canada. "He has stood up to it magnificently. The Army physician said that the rapid pace of travel and ceremonies and lost sleep since the general's ouster from his far eastern commands had tired his staff and "just about done me in."

Chicago, April 21 (AP)—The Chicago Tribune announced Friday it will sell at cost phonograph records of General MacArthur's address to Congress. Permission to reproduce and distribute recordings of the speech were obtained from a representative of the general, the paper said.

The 36 minute address will be impressed on two sides of a long playing (33½ rpm) record. It will be sold by mail and at the Tribune's public service offices in Chicago.

BULLETS DOWN PITT 6-2 FOR 2ND TRIUMPH

Ira Plank revamped his Gettysburg college baseball team lineup and the move paid dividends as the Bullets dropped a 6-2 victory over the University of Pittsburgh on the latter's field Friday afternoon for their second win against three setbacks.

Today the Plankmen clash with the strong Penn State nine at State College.

Jim Dyson turned in a five-hitter to win his second triumph in as many starts. He fanned four and walked but one.

George Hare snapped out of his batting slump and pounded out a triple and home run. He socked his three-base hit in the fifth with two one and hit for the circuit in the seventh with the sacks empty.

In addition to Hare, Johnny Keller, who started his first game at shortstop got two hits, one a double in the second inning.

ically superior enemy, and take our equipment with us, so we could hit the enemy again where we chose.

"At Hungnam the enemy outnumbered us seven to one, but with our superior mobility and firepower we were able to evacuate our men, our equipment, plus 100,000 civilians. And those men are now fighting on another front."

"Complaints are made about the large number of men in communications. These men, the writers say, are wasted, they should be carrying rifles. The same writers wonder why we have telephone communications instead of just radio. Well, a $55 jamming device can completely ruin radio communications. In addition, because of our superior communications our divisions can operate on a front three times as wide as the Russian division."

Praises United Nation
The Rev. Willis R. Doyle, commander of the SUV post, in his introduction of Captain Spicer said: "We celebrate many victories. Our nation has taken part in nine major wars, including the Korean, it has taken part in upwards of 100 minor wars including 80 with the Indians. Thus we have many dates which mark the ends of wars. Appomattox day not only marks the end of a war, it also marks the unification of a nation. And thus we should keep it alive. We in America insist on the right of disagreement and sometimes we may appear to the world to be hopelessly disinclined. But since Appomattox we have been a united nation. And while others may be fooled, let there come some threat to our nation and our squabbling ceases and we display what we are in fact—a united nation."

Motion pictures of the Korean war were shown by Captain Spicer. Refreshments were served.

At a meeting of the SUV held in the GAR post rooms prior to the Appomattox day celebration a letter was read from Assemblyman H. Earl Pitzer stating he favors the bill before the Legislature requiring loyalty oaths from state employees and teachers; a committee comprising Rev. Mr. Doyle, Paul Snyder and Harry Koch was appointed to investigate the need of flags on the graves of John Burns and Jennie Wade; David Tawney reported the camp will take part in the Memorial day activities at Hunterstown and Mt. Joy Lutheran church; John Zimmerman of the United States War Veterans invited Commander Doyle to take part in the USWW convention on June 11 and a $5 donation was voted to the auxiliary of the county home for the projector fund.

COP FINES HIMSELF
Albuquerque, N. M., April 21 (AP) — Police Chief Paul A. Shaver drove through a stop sign yesterday and collided with another car. The chief gave himself a ticket, forfeited the $5 bond and commented: "That's the very thing I've been warning other people about."

Erects Billboard For Impeachment

Inglewood, Calif., April 21 (AP) — Anger was unbounded.

Bristling over the firing of General MacArthur, sign painter Jack Anger hauled out his brushes and went to work. He made a sign five feet high and 14 feet long and erected it on his property.

In garish letters, it urged impeachment of President Truman, ouster of Secretary of State Acheson, and withdrawal of the United States from the United Nations.

But yesterday Anger was curbed. A city building inspector ordered the sign removed because there was no permit for such a display.

The sign came down. Anger still boiled, however.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
WANTED: A FRIEND

I have been reading Want Ads for years. I have noted requests for almost everything under the sun—even for a wife or husband, or somebody to write to because of loneliness, but I have never come across an advertisement for a friend!

Maybe that is just because it is expected of us that we should hunt for a friend, thus doubly being rewarded when we find such a rare possession. None of us have too many friends. There is always room for another one. One is even lucky to have but one genuine, dependable and understanding friend.

The scholarly orator, Wendell Phillips, once met Nora Perry, the poetess, upon the street in Boston and asked her where she was going. She said: "To meet a friend." Said Phillips: "Oh, take me with you. I want to meet one!" To what ends any one of us would go in order to meet or know a friend!

Imagine what a sensation it would make to put an advertisement in a newspaper for a friend. You might just head it "Wanted: A Friend." Then you could tell briefly what kind of a friend you would like to have. Perhaps just one to talk to, or to write to, or to be with for a while now and then to ward off loneliness and fear.

Once you are lucky enough to have a friend for a long time, to lose that friend becomes one of the serious tragedies of life. Charles Lamb had a friend like this to whom he paid every tribute possible for one man to pay to another. When he was gone, Lamb was left lonely and distracted. Said he: "There is now no one left to call me Charlie!" We all die a little when a friend leaves this world.

Should any of us actually advertise for a friend, it would be interesting to read the replies. Most of the ones who would answer such an ad would probably be people who wanted a friend themselves. It might be something like advertising for a Million Dollars. No one would pay any attention to such an ad. But to advertise for a friend would put a person on his mettle. He would not want to answer such an ad without feeling that he had something to give.

"FIRING" WAS POLITICAL SAYS GEN. BRADLEY

Chapel Hill, N. C., April 21 (AP)—General Omar Bradley says General MacArthur's dismissal is a political question. And as a military man, he refuses to be drawn into a discussion on it.

However Bradley, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, did comment here yesterday on a military aspect of the dismissal. During a question and answer period following a speech at the University of North Carolina, he was asked to say something on MacArthur's statement that he understood the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff shared MacArthur's view on the Korean situation from a military standpoint. Bradley's reply:

"The Joint Chiefs of Staff by law are military advisers to the President. We rendered our advice to him on a military point of view. If we are going to be of use to the President, we feel our advice should be confidential. We would be destroying our usefulness if it was public."

Bradley used these words in answering a question of United States Far Eastern policy and aims in Asia: "Our present objective in Asia is to stop the Communists — to kill as many as we can at the least possible cost to ourselves. Our aim is to try to arrive at a situation that will permit a settlement sometime and to get out of Korea."

Bradley answered another question by saying he thought MacArthur's speech to Congress yesterday was "very good" but it would not be proper for him to discuss it specifically. Before his speech Bradley referred newsmen to his remarks last week when he said "enlargement of the Korean war would jeopardize world peace and thus would threaten American security."

MILK BOARD IS REVERSED

Carlisle, Pa., April 21 (AP)—The State Milk Control Commission today studied a Cumberland county court decision which reversed a commission order requiring that a milkman could deliver no oftener than every other day.

Judge Dale F. Shugart threw out milkman William Hollinger's conviction of a charge of violating the commission order. John J. Snyder, a member of the milk commission, said the court's ruling probably will be appealed to the state Supreme court.

This is the first time in his memory, Snyder said, that a court has reversed the commission's right to fine milkmen who violate the delivery order. The order, known as section two, general order (A) 191, provides that milk dealers in the Harrisburg marketing area will deliver on alternate days.

Hollinger, of Mechanicsburg, R. 1, was fined $25 by Justice of the Peace H. M. Thompson after the commission charged him with violating the order on July 25, 26, and 27, 1949. The order grew out of one issued by the defense transportation office during World War II. The state milk commission issued the order in 1945 to run until July, 1946. It was later extended.

Hollinger's attorney contended in the appeal that the war-time order is not needed at present. He also charged that Hollinger's constitutional rights were violated. Commissioner Snyder said many suits have been brought against the order but in each case the commission was upheld.

Interior Dept. Cut Is Recommended

Washington, April 21 (AP)—A seven per cent cut in the interior department's budget for the fiscal year 1952 was recommended Friday by the House Appropriations committee.

It was the largest percentage cut recommended in the three departmental bills for fiscal 1952 sent to the House floor so far this year.

The committee approved $520,031,500 of the $559,286,000 requested by President Truman, the recommended allotment being $58,619,325 less than funds provided the department for the present year.

The largest single cut was in funds of the department's reclamation bureau, which wanted $252,075,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1, and was given $233,575,000. All the recommendations are subject to House action when the bill financing the department comes up for debate next week.

Room For Improvement

Getting the cooling system ready for summer service has become such routine to so many millions of motorists there is always the risk of not considering some of the newer points. I am thinking especially of the lower radiator hose which may need a new coil of wire inside it to prevent collapse. Possibly the self-lubricated water pump needs additional internal lubrication by putting some emulsifying oil into the cooling system, following draining off anti-freeze and flushing. This oil is the best type of rust inhibitor, too. Many motorists forget that soda cleaning solutions are not to be used for aluminum heads. And many make the mistake of putting cold water into a hot engine. Radiator work isn't anything that can be done in a hurry. It takes time to heat up the engine to get the sediment in the radiator and block well into solution, and plenty of time for cooling off before adding water again. Also it is important to flush the radiator separate from the block, and to reverse flush separately. This calls for disconnecting the radiator hoses after the engine is heated up.

No Virtue In Dilution
Maybe you don't care if the oil in the engine is thinned out, but among other things you are inviting fresh accumulations of carbon. They come along at a much faster rate when the oil is able to suck up into the cylinders more freely. Diluted oil is dangerous in that it is likely to burn off rapidly when the car is driven fast on the open road. Suddenly the quantity of oil is below the safety point.

Picked Up En Route
When visitors to one ultra-modern showroom step over to a new model foot pressure on a rug starts a concealed phonograph which gives a three-minute talk about the car's features. . . . Some people were impatient because they couldn't get a question of their own in edgewise. . . . Every day of the year 340 million gallons of oil are moved around the United States in its vast distribution of petroleum. . . . And in spite of the cost involved a gallon of gasoline is priced lower than a gallon of distilled water. . . . In Belgium, they're advertising a dash controlled shade to cover the radiator core to keep out the chilly air, proving that nothing automotive ever goes completely out of date.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:
"Sometimes it pays to read the manufacturer's advertisements even if you have one of the cars and feel that you know all of its virtues. What you may not know are some of its special features which may result in embarrassment and delay. I saw this happen the other day when a woman owner of a new car couldn't get the lid of the luggage compartment down. A willing assistant was all for giving it a hearty pull, but she restrained him on the theory that he might damage it. Someone else who happened along at the time readily came up with the answer by calling attention to the car maker's advertising which had mentioned the fact that the lid is counterbalanced. Without fear of damaging the car he pulled down on the lid and it came to a closed position smoothly."

Tires Likely To Blame
Believe it or let it pass with the scenery a lot of what passes for trouble with the steering system, the front end or the spring suspension is due entirely to tires. While they may look alike tires do not all ride with the same degree of ease, and this is further complicated by differences in tubes. In general the puncture-proof tubes make for harder riding, which is one reason for the increase in use of tubeless tires. Some of the trouble with tires is that they do not all have the same area of contact with the road, at the same pressures. This has fooled many an alignment man. The tip-off to insufficient tire road contact is a sense of the car not wanting to keep in a straight line. There are numerous other causes of this, of course, but a lot of time could be saved by considering the tires first.

By Popular Request
This question has come up again so I am repeating an early warning as to what to do if you happen to be fussing with the car's battery and get some acid in your eye. The first step is to wash the eye out thoroughly with warm water. Finally apply a drop of olive oil.

Well Worth Changing

In view of the fact that a good rebuilt fuel pump is a reasonable investment in efficiency, and not much of a job to install, it is certainly worth serious consideration as a means of overcoming other troubles. It is effective in offsetting inefficiency of the carburetor, for one thing. Often a carburetor will lose fuel when the car stands, but if the fuel pump is on the job the bowl will refill quickly and the battery will be saved a lot of cranking effort. A good pump insures a full supply of fuel on upgrades and may compensate for any tendency toward vapor lock. Weakness of the fuel pump is a common cause of sudden and otherwise unexplained quitting of the engine when power is needed most.

Why That "Conking Out"

Speaking of engine misbehavior reminds me that perhaps it would be well for every motorist to have in the back of his head a few ideas as to why an engine would "conk out" suddenly. The general assumption is that any sudden quitting would of necessity be due to failure in the ignition or electrical systems of the car. But such is not the case with modern motors which are subject to vapor lock, air leakage in the flexible fuel line from main fuel line to fuel pump, and poor grounding.

Another thing to suspect when the motor fails suddenly is weakness of the breaker arm spring. This, furthermore, would occur only at high speeds. The weak spring refuses to let the arm follow the cam of the distributor shaft, and all ignition ceases above a certain speed. When valve springs are too weak for high speed there is noise and a more mixed up situation, since all the springs would not have the same degree of weakness.

Around The Motor Map

One of the British cars is a recent Continental, road rally sported a pair of automatic wipers over the headlights. . . . In spite of great improvements in tire treads and materials tests show that on ice it still takes about 8 times as far to stop as the car normally would on dry concrete. . . . Someone in Florida has a convertible with a top that goes up automatically when it starts to rain.

Baltimore, the master of ceremonies, again pleased the crowd with his clowning, singing and use of the "dehydrated guitar," as he described his ukulele. Ross announced at the end of the program that he would appear again at the South Mountain fair grounds in May with his children's program from WBAL-TV.

Band Concert First

The program opened with a half-hour concert by the Upper Adams Joint high school band under the direction of Charles Rogers. Harry P. Geiselman, president of the Upper Adams Lions club, welcomed the audience and explained the purpose of the annual contest. Russell S. Hackman, of the Upper Adams Lions, introduced Ross.

The Prestidigitators, a female quartet from York, had to appear in the show as a trio. Ethel Newbould, who ordinarily sings baritone in the quartet, was ill and unable to appear. Myrtle Morey, tenor; Ethyl Sechrist, lead, and Marguerite Spangler, bass, revised their music however to sing "Sioux City Sue," "Daisy, Daisy" and other numbers as a trio.

A number which drew much applause was "Looking for the Lost Chord" sung by the Lions quartet of Elizabethtown. Starting out to the tune of the "Lost Chord," in which they explained they were searching for it in various musical numbers, they sang about 15 different numbers, switching tunes as they arrived at a word in one song which began a line in another song. Judges included Tim Elin, Philip Hunter and A. B. Cash, all of West Virginia, and all members of quartets from that state.

East Berlin

East Berlin—The Rev. Francis L. Mignot, administrator of Paradise Catholic church and acting chaplain at Paradise Rectory, returned to the Rectory Sunday afternoon after spending several days under treatment at the York hospital. Father Mignot is reported in a satisfactory condition. In his absence, Sunday services were in charge of the Rev. Jude J. Gleason, TOR, headmaster at St. Francis Preparatory school, Spring Grove.

George Emig, Jr., Dover, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Emig and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Emig, this place, who is a student and member of the soccer team at Penn State college, has returned with 17 other Penn State soccer players from a trip to Iran by plane at the expense of the U.S. government for a "good will tour" wherein the young men played soccer against an Iranian team. Four games were scheduled, two of which were won by the Oriental team, one by Penn State, and the fourth "rained out." George, known in college as "Red," reports that he attained an unexpected popularity in the foreign country, most of whose inhabitants are of very dark coloring, because of his brilliant red hair which a number of natives crowded around him to touch.

Fifteen members of the Dramatic club of the local high school have completed preparations for the public showing of the three-act comedy, "Desperate Ambrose," to be given this evening at the high school auditorium.

Raymond L. Hoffman, Sr., who has been confined to his home for about two months because of a severe heart attack, is now able to take short walks with the aid of a cane and is reported to be steadily improving.

Miss Jeanne Hoffman, a graduate of the 1950 class of the local high school where she was outstanding in the musical circles, is among a large class of young women who entered the training school for nurses at the York hospital last fall, who received caps and pins at traditional ceremonies this week when they ended their probationary period.

Mrs. George L. Shetter remains under treatment after more than two months of suffering with a serious fracture of her right arm sustained when she fell on an icy pavement near her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kothe, who left here recently with the intention of motoring to many sections of the country after selling their house and much of its furniture, have completed a stay in Alabama and are now in Kingston, N. Y. On their way north, they re-visited East Berlin where a daughter, Mrs. Harry L. Taylor, and family, reside.

The Conewago Jointure Parent-Teachers' association will hold its regular monthly meeting in the East Berlin high school auditorium on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. An appropriate motion picture will be a feature of the entertainment, and the annual election of officers is expected to take place. The meeting will also feature an "open house" when the public is invited to inspect the school facilities. Each member is urged to come and bring a friend along, and an invitation is also extended to the public, including non-members.

Devotional and Family Life Institute is scheduled for this evening at 7:30 and for the entire day Sunday at the Bermudian Church of the Brethren, with the guest speakers being: Levi Zeigler, Lemoine; Gaylen Kilhefner, Elizabethtown; and Jesse Jenkins, York. Sunday services are scheduled for 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. and 2 and 7:15 p.m. At noon there will be a "fellowship meal" in the church basement where attendants will gather for basket lunches which persons are asked to bring.

The traditional shower of ticker tape greets Gen. Douglas MacArthur as the motorecade escorting him moves up Lower Broadway from Bowling Green to the City Hall in New York's tribute to the general, April 20.

Sidewalks are solid with cheering New Yorkers as Gen. Douglas MacArthur parade moves south from Upper Broadway into Times Square as New York paid its respect to the general, April 20. Police motorcycles surround the general's car.

York Springs

York Springs — Mrs. John Stall-smith was hostess on Tuesday evening when a meeting of the Willing Workers organization of the local Lutheran church met at her home.

The Rev. Glenn Ball was guest minister at worship services Sunday evening at the local Church of God.

A "500" party was conducted for the public Friday evening at the Community fire hall, along with a refreshment sale, for the benefit of the recently reorganized York Springs baseball club which is being sponsored this year by the firemen. Another card party is scheduled for the same place Friday evening, April 27, to begin at 8 o'clock for the same cause.

Mrs. Rosa Bream was recently visited by her daughter, Mrs. Roy Fagan, Harrisburg, who was accompanied by two of her six young daughters. The Fagan children are frequent visitors to their grandmother's home.

Local friends recently arranged a card shower to celebrate the birthday of Pfc. Donald Lehman, who is serving with the army at Camp Rucker, Arkansas.

Taking Gibbs To Death House Today

Bellefonte, Pa., April 21 (P)—Edward L. Gibbs, 36, sentenced to die early Monday for the "impulse" slaying of a college secretary, is being brought to Rockview prison's death house today.

The dark-haired former Franklin and Marshall college senior from Pitman, N. J., is to arrive here late in the day after making the 120-mile trip from Lancaster by automobile.

Gibbs, described yesterday as "resigned to his fate," still held out hope for a last-minute respite from Gov. John S. Fine to save him from dying in the commonwealth's electric chair shortly after midnight tomorrow night.

However, a spokesman at the Governor's office in Harrisburg said there was no respite in sight. The Governor, himself, was in Philadelphia.

Guns were fired every half hour until sunset on every American Army post, naval station and ship when Lafayette died.

Old Ordinance Named Local Street For Hero John Burns

In 1893, the throwing of wash water or seaweeds in the streets or alleys of Gettysburg was prohibited by a borough ordinance. This regulation is one of several the borough fathers found it necessary, eventually, to adopt in by-gone days.

One of the earliest ordinances on record is that of 1806, adopting an official seal for the borough. James Gettys was the "town clerk" and treasurer at that time.

An ordinance adopted in 1883 prohibited "congregating assembling of standing" or "idle" persons having no business there, at railroad stations, at church doors, street corners or crossings or "other public places" so as to obstruct them or interfere with other persons with a better right, presumably to be in such places.

Kids Can't Have Matches
Persons arrested under this ordinance were subject to fines of $3, or not more than 36 hours in jail, or as it was called in the ordinance, "the lockup."

Apparently juveniles could be "thrown in the lockup" in those days, for another ordinance which prohibits "the carrying or use of friction matches by children under 14 years of age" carried a penalty of $1 fine or 12 hours in jail. It was the duty of the "high constable" or the police officers to arrest boys with matches and take them before the burgess.

In 1892 the borough council made it illegal to turn in a false fire alarm, discharge firearms in the borough, or build a bonfire. In 1895 wills were required to have a "gong" or bell which could be heard at a minimum distance of 30 feet. In 1910 an ordinance was passed requiring all dogs running at large in the borough to be muzzled.

Burgess And Coasting Lost
Despite the best efforts of J. A. Holtzworth, who was burgess in 1910, children were prohibited in that year from coasting on their sleds on any of the borough streets or alleys. Although the ordinance didn't say so, "horseless carriages" were probably becoming more numerous about that time.

Burgess Holtzworth vetoed the ordinance because, he said, "coasting lasts only a few weeks," but he and the children lost out when the council passed the ordinance over his veto.

Soliciting Prohibited
Back when almost every town had a "curfew" law, Gettysburg had one too. It was illegal for any boy under 16 or girl under 18 to be on the streets of the town after 9 p.m., unless accompanied by a parent, guardian or someone legally responsible for them.

Poolrooms and "ten-pin" alleys were prohibited from opening before

7 a.m. and were required to close by 11:30 p.m. An ordinance prohibited soliciting business for hotels, rooming houses or garages. In 1915 the borough council found it necessary to require that traffic passing through the square "pull to the right."

In 1931 council made it illegal to operate an indoor or outdoor golf course or putting "course" within the borough on Sundays. In 1910 an ordinance set aside what was then called Center square, and as much of the intersecting streets as might be necessary, for market stalls. In 1935 the borough rented the ground floor of the building owned by the Albert J. Lentz post, American Legion, as a "market house."

Burns Name Didn't Stick
Ordinances which were adopted from time to time ordaining new streets reveal that Steinwehr avenue was once called State street. It was not changed to its present designation until 1890. In 1896 the burgess called the street extending from North Washington to Stratton street, now Stevens street, as "Union" street. It did not become Stevens street until 1874.

John Burns, the citizen-soldier of Gettysburg, had his brief moment of glory in 1867 when a street was named for him. An ordinance passed in that year ordained "the extreme west street running from Chambersburg street to the fair grounds on High street be known hereafter by the name of Burns street." David Wills was president of the council where this action was taken. It hasn't been Burns street for many years. It's now called West street, proving, perhaps, in street names, the fame of John Burns, citizen, was not as lasting as that of such Civil war leaders as Lincoln, Steinwehr, Buford, Reynolds and others.

William Smith, son of Mrs. Plus Smith and the late Mr. Smith, is now in the army at Camp Lee, Va. The young man was a recent visitor to his home for a brief stay.

The local chapter, National Council of Catholic Women, conducted their April meeting on Wednesday evening at the parochial hall. A number of women of this organization expect to represent the local Catholic church at a meeting of NCCW groups of this section of the state, to be conducted, April 29, at St. Andrew's church, Waynesboro.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the local fire company met Thursday evening at the fire hall, and completed plans for the bake sale and bazaar taking place today at the hall.

Members of St. Paul's Reformed church are preparing to sponsor a public auction on Saturday, April 28, offering a large and varied number of items useful in the home, including dishes, small appliances and tools. Some antiques are also being offered.

Harrisburg, April 21 (P)—Gov. John S. Fine said Friday "increased costs due largely to our national emergency" caused him to recommend levying a state income tax.

"We did not start this administration with any desire of imposing new taxes upon many citizens of the Commonwealth," Fine told the 47th annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Association of Boroughs.

An Important Notice of Interest to LOCAL FARMERS

NOTE: The following are excerpts from letters issued by the United States Department of Agriculture.

"As we read the newspapers and magazines and listen to the radio each day, we cannot help but come to the conclusion that a grave world situation now exists. In order to meet the expanded need for food and feed at home and abroad, the farm output in 1951 will need to be the largest in history.

"No individual farm guides will be established. In order that you may determine what you and your farm are most capable of doing, we are listing the various commodities and considered recommendations for the 1951 production in Adams County."

WHEAT—1949 acreage was 29,612; 1950 acreage was 25,889; 1951 acreage . . . at least 29,612.

SOY BEANS—Where 10 acres were planted in 1950, need 12 acres for 1951.

CORN—38,110 acres were planted in 1950; need 40,200 in 1951.

OATS—7,300 acres were planted in 1950; need 7,870 acres in 1951.

TOMATOES—Where 10 acres were planted in 1950, 14 acres are needed in 1951.

SWEET CORN—Where 10 acres were planted in 1950, 14 acres are needed in 1951.

POULTRY—Price stabilization, prospects of more pork products are expected to have a tendency to hold the prices of poultry steady. The broiler population is 10% higher than in 1950 and laying hen population about 3% lower.

EGGS—Price of eggs should remain fairly firm until fall. There may be a shortage at that time, and birds coming into full production early should be profitable.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—High beef prices have resulted in a decline in the number of dairy cattle. Prices for dairy products should be stronger since fluid milk buyers are considering the extension of their milk purchasing territory.

POTATOES—540 acres were planted in 1950; need 490 acres in 1951.

BEEF CATTLE—With a 5% increase in the number of cows and calves, the supply is still short of demand. Except for choice beef, grass finished cattle will likely be more profitable.

PORK AND PORK PRODUCTS—7% more hogs are on farms now than last year. Corn-Hog ratio is still favorable with good management. The use of legume pasture is suggested for economical gains. Finish hogs to market weights on self-feeders with a balanced ration. Meat prices will be carefully watched by the consumer and the government.

FRUIT—Efficiency of operations must be stressed, as production costs will remain high. There is a large quantity of raw fruit in storage for this time of year. However, processed goods are steadily moving through market channels. There is likely to be a good demand from fruit processors for all fruits.

APPLES—Outlook is good as crop is estimated to be somewhat short.

PEACHES—The set is calculated to be somewhat spotty with outlook favoring a good market.

CHERRIES—The processed crop has been sold, and outlook for favorable market, locally, seems assured.

DRAWBRIDGE DELAYS TRUMAN CRUISE ON BAY

Washington, April 21 (AP)—A drawbridge added itself last night to the Republicans, southern Democrats, General MacArthur and boating fans disturbing the even tenor of Mr. Truman's presidential life.

Mr. Truman set out at 8:30 p.m. (EST) for a quiet weekend cruise in his yacht Williamsburg.

The President boarded the Williamsburg at the Naval Gun factory in Washington on the Anacostia river, tributary to the Potomac. The Williamsburg headed down the Anacostia.

The South Capitol street drawbridge started to open for the presidential yacht. Partly up, it stuck.

The Williamsburg and the President turned back to the Naval Gun factory and didn't get into the Potomac until two hours later, when workmen got the recalcitrant bridge to work.

Booted At Ballpark
There was no immediate information where the President would cruise (presumably Chesapeake bay), or when he would return.

The President was booted by part of the crowd when he went out to the ball park earlier in the day to toss in the first ball of the game between Washington and the New York Yankees.

There was also scattered clapping, but the Washington "Star" called it the "coldest reception ever given a chief executive at an opening baseball game."

It was Mr. Truman's first public appearance in the wake of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's dramatic capture of the city Thursday.

The chief executive shrugged off the boos with a grin and ate a hot dog.

MARK PASSOVER IN JERUSALEM

Jerusalem, April 21 (AP)—Passover—Ancient Jewish festival recalling the exodus of the children of Israel from Egypt 3,500 years ago—was celebrated by some 1,300,000 Jews in the Holy Land Friday night amid a new migration.

This time it is the Jews from Iraq—biblical land of Babylon—who went home to the promised land on the river Jordan.

It took 40 years for the followers of Moses—"about 600,000 on foot that were men, besides children"—to wander across the desert sands from the kingdom of the Pharaohs on the banks of the Nile to Palestine by the Jordan.

The 100,000 Jews from the Iraqi capital of Baghdad on the banks of the Tigris covered double that distance in six hours. They migrated by plane.

Traditional Rite

The first Passover, according to tradition, was preordained by Moses at God's command. The Israelites were commanded on the eve of that day to kill a male lamb and sprinkle its blood on their thresholds so the Lord would "pass over" them when he went forth to slay the first-born of the Egyptians. Then the Israelites were ordered to eat the lamb and drink the blood of the lamb. The Passover meal, "seder," includes "mazzoth"—unleavened bread baked when the Jews fled from Egypt in the dark of night.

Throughout Israel most Jews also drank the traditional four glasses of wine to hail the Passover.

Washington, April 21 (AP)—The Munitions Board says all 48 states are sharing in $8,927,407,000 worth of prime military contracts awarded from July 1, 1950, to January 31, 1951.

The report shows that the states' shares vary widely — from California's 18.1 percent of the national total to less than .05 percent for a half-dozen states. Pennsylvania's share is 3.7 percent.

According to the Book of Knowledge, the term "Esquimo" was first used by some of the northeastern Indians as a term to reproach people still farther north.

Summer Flowering Bulbs

There are a score or more hardy, desirable bulbous flowers easy to grow in the home garden. Recommended below, along with brief cultural suggestions, are several newer members of this important ornamental group as well as the old stand-bys.

Achimenes—One of the few summer bulbous flowers that prefers light shade. They may be used also in porch and window boxes. Many growers use them in the shady areas of the rock garden.

Amaryllis—Some of the recently developed hybrids may be utilized in a fertile, well drained loam, preferably in a sheltered location. Plant bulbs in late April or early May for July and August blooms.

Anemone—Plant bulbs about 6 inches deep in a cool, moist site where the soil is well drained. If covered with straw manure over winter, anemones will establish themselves and last for many years.

Caladiums—The so-called Elephant Ear is well known, so are the fancy-leaved sorts. The latter make excellent outdoor showing, preferably in light shade. Cover bulbs 4 inches deep in a well drained, deeply mellow loam. Space them 6 inches apart each way for solid beds or in single rows. Plant in late April or early May.

Gloriosa—This is a low-growing newcomer that bears lily-like flowers through late summer and fall months. Plant in a sheltered nook. Tubers should be stored like gladiolus corms.

Cape Hyacinth—Bulbs are planted like gladiolus corms. A tall-growing plant surmounted by 20 to 30 white, bell-shaped flowers. Plant from early April until late May.

Montbretias—Here is the most widely overlooked of desirable summer bulbs. There are several named varieties. They do well in light shade or full sun. Well rotted manure turned under deeply before planting is beneficial. Water liberally in dry weather to stimulate the finest flowers. Many growers in this latitude leave the bulbs in the ground over winter.

Pancreatum—Little known, this excellent flower merits wider use. Plant bulbs from mid-April until late May. Take up the bulbs before winter and store in a dry, medium warm place.

Tuberose—This is not a rose; in fact, the name should be divided tuber-ose. Plant bulbs after frost dangers are past, covering them 2 inches deep or pot bulbs indoors in April and transfer the plants later to their growing place without disturbing the roots. One of the sweetest scented of all summer bulbous flowers.

Cannas—Gardeners who judge cannas by the varieties once widely grown in formal beds should consider some of the improved hybrid types now available. Plant tubers in early May after the soil begins to warm up.

Tigrida—Do not confuse this with the well known tiger lily. This plant is sometimes known as Shellflower of Mexico. The coloring of this flower is unusually attractive. Plant bulbs in a sunny location in late April or early May. Flowers appear from the middle of July until early September.

Write the editor to ask any questions desired about summer bulbous flowers. Please enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope for personal reply by return mail.

MORNING GLORIES HAVE CHANGED

Within the memory of most adult persons the morning glory has graduated from the "weed" class to an ornamental role. Flower growers who are not already aware of this fact should consider some of the marvelous improved types now available for growing on trellises, porches, fences and similar supports.

Most catalogues list this plant as Ipomoea — pronounced ip-o-ME-a. The name means literally "like a worm." In addition to the native plant which overruns corn fields in some parts of the Middle West and often found growing wild along fence rows and in gardens, available named varieties have been greatly enriched by the Imperial or Japanese morning glories introduced into the United States over a half century ago.

Among the merits of morning glories from the flower grower's standpoint is the fact that they do best in rather poor soils. If grown where the soil is rich, the plant wastes most of its vigor in extended vine growth and heavy foliage at the expense of flowers. Too, root crowding increases the number and perhaps improves the quality of blooms. Many experienced growers, in order to gain benefits of the last cited factor, start plants in pots which are later plunged in the ground at the growing site, and thereby the pot serves to restrict unlimited root expansion.

For the same reasons it is not advisable to fertilize or over water morning glories. All these steps help to stimulate maximum crops of flowers. And for those who appreciate the improved strains of this annual this goal is of primary importance.

The true loveliness of morning glories is often overlooked. The editor was impressed by this fact several years ago when he drove into a mountain town in north central Pennsylvania late at night to find the hotels crowded with convention visitors. Compelled to seek shelter at a small automobile tourist court outside the town, we bawled our misfortune but accepted the meager accommodations. But on arising early the next morning we hastily repented of our disappointments when we found a large trellis just outside the door a veritable mass of beautiful blue flowers—blue at its most attractive shade. It was the new (at that time) Heavenly Blue ipomoea.

In addition to this excellent morning glory there is a more recently developed blue sort named Blue Star. Then incomparably attractive is the strikingly glorious Scarlett O'Hara, a carmine red whose flowers often measure 3 to 4 inches across. Pearly Gates is a fine white, similar in habit to the Heavenly Blue except that it comes into bloom slightly later in the season. For introducing the element of surprise or anticipation, especially where the vines are grown on a fairly large scale, mixed seed may be planted, including red, white and blue varieties.

Morning glory plants are easily ripped by frost. Seed may be planted now in small pots in a cold frame. After frost dangers are past in May and soil begins to warm up, the potted plants should be moved to their growing places without disturbing the roots. As already mentioned, choice varieties may be started in 6-inch or slightly larger pots and moved later to their growing sites by burying the pots to their brims in

VANDENBERG IS BURIED TODAY

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 21 (AP)—The flock gathered with the mighty here today for the funeral of world-famous Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg.

Last rites for the famed bi-partisan foreign policy advocate of the Republican party brought together the man in top hat and muffled factory worker.

Trains and planes brought official delegations from the capitol at Washington.

Vandenberg's neighbors and fellow citizens—the oldest of whom knew him as the harness maker's son—joined in a huge and solemn tribute.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. (EST) at the Park Congregational church.

Sen. Vandenberg, who served in Congress more than a score of years, died Wednesday night after a long illness. He was 67.

The Senator's body laid in state in the church chapel this morning. Meanwhile, his native Michigan began a 48-hour period of official mourning.

and about 10,000 people with the patients their lives in the large majority of cases. For too many years are pure neglect and lack of knowledge of the signs and symptoms."

Dr. Wolff said routine health examinations are proving beneficial. "None of us is immune to the disease and even babies are sometimes born with the condition, but the most commonly afflicted persons are those just 40 years of age," he said. The county unit has a colored movie available for female groups explaining self examination, which may be obtained by applying to Mrs. Joseph Coderi, county captain.

Dr. Wolff said another function of the county unit is the sponsoring of the tumor clinic weekly at the Warner hospital. To date 178 new cases have been registered, he said, 128 of which proved to be cancerous. There were 412 return visits to the clinic.

Win Congratulatory Letter

"The cost of establishing this clinic has been almost $1,000, obtained through the annual drive for funds," the speaker said. "We believe it is a factor in saving lives and in relieving suffering.

"This month, after a thorough investigation by a representative of the American College of Surgeons, the directors of the clinic received a congratulatory letter on the excellent type of program that is being carried out. The directors were further advised in the letter that the department of clinical research was recommending to the board of regents of the college that the tumor clinic operating at the Warner hospital be continued as fully approved."

This letter was signed by Dr. Walter E. Batchelder, director of the research clinic, Chicago, and was addressed to Dr. Wolff. The inspection was made by Dr. Harold R. Hennessy and the letter said: "It is very evident from Dr. Hennessy's report that you are conducting an excellent type program, and you are to be congratulated."

Dr. Wolff reminded that the cancer fund drive will continue for the balance of the month, with a goal of $3,000. Approximately half will remain in the county for direct relief and the remainder will go to the national organization for research work.

Reception Held

The Rev. Mr. Kurtz played the "Indian Love Call" as a trombone solo. Miss Bernice Sreen, Greencastle, sang "I Love You Truly." As the bride approached the altar the bridegroom sang "Because." Mrs. John Sanders, Gettysburg, was pianist. The altar was decorated with palms and candelabra.

A reception was held at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Myers following the ceremony.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. Heer, Menno, S. D., the bride graduated from Menno high school and L.I.S.E. Bible college, Los Angeles, Calif. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm C. Blue, Jackson Springs, N. C., a graduate from the Jackson high school and the L.I.S.E. Bible college. He served two years in the Navy during World War II.

The couple will leave for Huntington, Va., where they will establish a new Foursquare Gospel church.

Part Of Airplane Drops In Frederick

Frederick, Md., April 21 (AP)—Part of one engine and a tail cone of an Air Force jet fighter dropped over the outskirts of Frederick but caused no damage.

The F2H2 plane was on a cross-country trip from Kansas to Atlantic City and made it safely to the New Jersey resort yesterday.

Part of a jet turbine dropped within 200 feet of a brick apartment house at Camp Detrick, west of Frederick, and the cone, weighing about 90 pounds, fell into farmer Anthony Main's field where he was plowing. The engine part buried itself five feet into the ground, the cone two and one-half feet.

The Air Force at Middletown, Pa., reported the plane and another fighter were on a cross-country hop. Less than two weeks ago an abandoned B-25 bomber crashed into the side of a house at Morningside, Md., killing three persons.

CHURCH SYNOD

ical and Reformed church during the three-year intervals between the meeting of its highest judicatory, the General Synod. He is also a member of the General Council's committee on Correlation and Promotion and of the General Synod's committee on Liturgies, and is a denominational delegate to the Alliance of Reformed churches. Formerly president of the Michigan-Indiana Synod, he now serves the Bethany Evangelical and Reformed congregation in Chicago as pastor.

To Summarize Activities

Dr. Stanger will present a comprehensive summary of the work of the church. Highlights of his address will include the General Synod's directive to the Board of National Missions to establish at least ten new churches in the home field during each year of the current triennium. A laymen's advisory committee will assist the board in raising a minimum of one million dollars to help finance these 30 more mission congregations.

The congregations of the Evangelical and Reformed church have been asked by the General Synod to contribute $500,000 annually to the World Service Fund. Dr. Stanger will emphasize the necessity of continuing and increasing the aid while the church has been giving through this fund to distressed peoples war-ravaged lands.
